No Corn In This Boar-ing Story

George Shirey, of Spout Spring, on the way to a hog sale at Courtland, Virginia, early in August felt no difference in his load, but for one boar, it was anything but boring. One of his prize boars escaped from its box evidently grabbed hold of the framing of the truck then fell off. Tooth marks may still be seen in the wood.

Through the help of state police the boar was recovered, and found to have suffered only a broken jaw. Now, there's no corn for the boar since his jaws are wired. A soft diet and TLC (tender loving care), says George's sister, Virginia, will soon have the hog ready for another market. The Shirey brothers, George and Herbert, raise pure - bred Duroc swine for markets throughout Virginia.

'Inspection plus Correction equals Protection' is the theme of this year's National Farm Safety Week. Find the hazard, get rid of it, and it can't lead to an accident.

Editor
The Times - Virginian,
Sir:

May we impose upon you in an effort to reach all those who were so kind in rendering assistance to our two sons and our two nephews who were injured and or critically hurt in the truck train collison on July 8th near Pamplin, West.

Mrs. Maxwell and I wish to express our deepest appreciation to everyone for their assistance; especially to a Mr. Jamerson and other N&W employees; to the efficient State Troopers in their vicinity and at the scene and in transport of the boys to the hospital; and, from us, our heartfelt thanks to the Life Saving Crew from Appomattox who rushed our two sons to the Southside Hospital where they received most skilled first aid. We now feel the life of our oldest son, Littleton, was saved by their several efforts.

We are happy to advise that George Britton has fully recovered, and will return to his studies in the School of Engineering at the University in September. Littleton has been released from the University Hospital, is now convalescing at home, with good progress, and we are most optimistic about his ultimate recovery. Unfortunately, he will be unable to return to the University this year where he was a graduate student in the School of Law.

Most Sincerely,
Mr. and Mrs. H Littleton Maxwell
